SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Homecoming Expresses Riverboat Theme

This year's Homecoming festivities were initiated with the reviving of the freshmen wearing a headpiece during the week before the Homecoming game. This year the freshmen could be seen wearing their headband and feathers while going to and coming from classes. The festivities continued with a parade that preceded the Homecoming football game against Affton. The football game, though a defeat, was well played with the defense making key plays while keeping us in the game.

The major event of the Homecoming activities is the annual Homecoming Dance. This year's setting depicted the historical riverboat race between the Robert E. Lee and the Natchez. With Magna Crunch providing the music a very entertaining evening was enjoyed by all. The Homecoming activities were capped-off with the crowning of JoHanna Dibello as the last Homecoming Queen.

Fall Festival Initiates Happy Spirit

I've got something you haven't got

The 6th and final Fall Festival at Augie was held October 16, culminating months of hard work and preparation. Though this was the last Fall Festival at Augie, it still maintained the high quality it had achieved in the past. The Mothers and Fathers Club should be commended for their hard work and variety of booths. The Student Council should also be thanked for their Record Booth which provided a variety of records.

Ring Mass — Memorable Achievement For Class Of '72

Friday, May the fourteenth, will be a day long remembered by the 1970-71 junior class and their mothers. Unity of family, the theme of the mass, was stated in an eloquent sermon delivered by Father Perez. The con-celebrated mass proved to be one of the most memorable achievements of the junior class

Ring Dance — An Oriental Experience

You wouldn't dare!

The 1971 junior ring dance proved to be an enjoyable and memorable event for all concerned. Skillfully decorated by members of the junior class under the expertise of Brad Fresenburg, the cafeteria was transformed into an oriental expose complete with its own pagoda.

The Beat Goes On At The Mixers

Starting off the year, the student body was treated to double pleasure at the first mixer that featured two bands, Jay Barry and Alice and Omar. Sponsored by the Student Council, the mixers were slated on a monthly basis except months where formal dances and proms were scheduled. Later mixers had such bands as Free Enterprise and Progress. These mixers have afforded the student body an opportunity to really unwind in the student center and have been regularly attended throughout the year.

Student Council Proves Active Participant

The 1971-72 Student Council, under the expert assistance of its moderator, Mr. John Dring, and the leadership of its President John Wosman, had another fine year. Though it is the Academy's last year, the Council kept up its policy of sponsoring dances and coffee houses. Due to the Council's active part in helping the parents on the Fall Festival and Homecoming, both festivities proved to be a success.

I have attempted to create an annual unique from editions of the past. Through the selections of type styles, colors, and layout techniques, I have tried to capture the journey of one year in an attractive manner. Along with that journey the summary of an institution's life and death exists within the covers of this volume

I wish to express my gratitude to the people who assisted me in the construction of this annual: Bill Sullivan, Mike Ogolin, Dennis Schlitt, Gene Coon, Mark Herder, John Meyer, Mark Ellebrecht, Mark Schneider, Mr. James Lutz, and Fr. William Perez. The annual is our final token of farewell

Tolle Lege

With dedication and a will to work, this year's Tolle Lege staff has maintained the excellent quality of the paper which its predecessor's had developed. Under the auspices of its editor, Robert Withington, and co-editor, William Sullivan, the Tolle Lege has thoroughly covered the Academy's activities with its well organized and timely issues. Junior editor, Ken Deneal, and Sports editor, John Voeg, were extremely beneficial in aiding to the papers publications. The complete staff should be congratulated for their combined efforts put forth this year. All considered this year's staff combined unusual and thought provoking articles in making this year's Tolle Lege unforgettable.

Masquers Take Final Bow

The Augustinian Masquers reduced their 1971-1972 schedule from the usual three plays to two plays, but this by no means meant that the quality of the shows also dropped. On the contrary, the smaller schedule allowed the Masquers to devote a greater amount of time and effort to each of the shows. Thus, they were able to polish the productions until they reached a peak at the time of their public presentation.

The Masquers opened the season on November 19th, 1971 with their presentation of Neil Simon's hilarious play, "The Odd Couple." This year saw the completion of Mr. Albert Keeney's second year as moderator of the Masquers. Throughout the year he was assisted by John Meyer, president of the Masquers, and Mark Ellebrecht, president of the Augustinian Chapter of the International Thespian Society, along with Bill Sullivan, Paul Ema, and Rick Butler who served as vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the Masquers, respectively. Because of the hard work of these and all the other members, the Masquers enjoyed a season of great achievement and success.

Library Guild

The Augustinian Library Guild made great strides in the past school year. Miss Alma Girand, with the help of her able assistants, has made the Augustinian library one of the best in the local area on a high school level. The supply of audio-visual equipment was expanded, new books were added, and Miss Girand brought a touch of professionalism to the library. Among the aides who contributed to the improvement of the library were John Wieder, Rick Butler, Joe Schmidt, and Dave Cedeck. Miss Girand's original idea of a Library Guild proved valuable to its members for their future and to the students of Augustinian for a quality library facility.

FIRST ROW: Dave Cedeck, Chris Butcher, A. Brunsard, B. Kline, R. Butler. SECOND ROW: Miss Alma Girand, J. Wieder, J. Dean, J. Schmidt, G. Frandsen, Ken De Nea.

Competing in the Alton and Rittnour Invitationals, the Augustinian Academy Chess Club finished its league play in April. Under the direction of Mr. H. Earnst, exhibitions with masters and international grand masters were sponsored. Along with President Tim Racz and Vice-president Charles Bohnenberger, the organization has provided Academy students with an opportunity to participate in a stimulating activity.

S.A.D. Continues Fine Work

The Student Advertising Department under the leadership of Joe Marfia is one of the most active organizations at the Academy. Besides printing dance posters which were distributed throughout the city to the various girl's schools and painting signs for sports events, they manufactured massive banners which covered the lobby balcony for the Can Drive and the Plays. There is no doubt that the S A D, was a most vital part of the Academy's history.

Although being one of the youngest organizations at the Academy, the Baja Grotto Cave Club has advanced to one of the top high school grottos in the area. Through various fund raising activities, this group raised enough money to journey to Mexico to explore its famous caves. Being located in one of the greatest cave states, these spelunkers have visited numerous caves in Missouri and Illinois. In addition to attending several cave seminars in Missouri, members of this cave club also participated in the National Speological Seminar in Iowa. Along with dangers, thrills, and marvels of caving, the Baja Grotto Cave Club, under the tutelage of moderator Mr. Schriewer, have learned to conserve and appreciate the many wonders of this world of darkness.

Cheerleaders Promote Enthusiasm

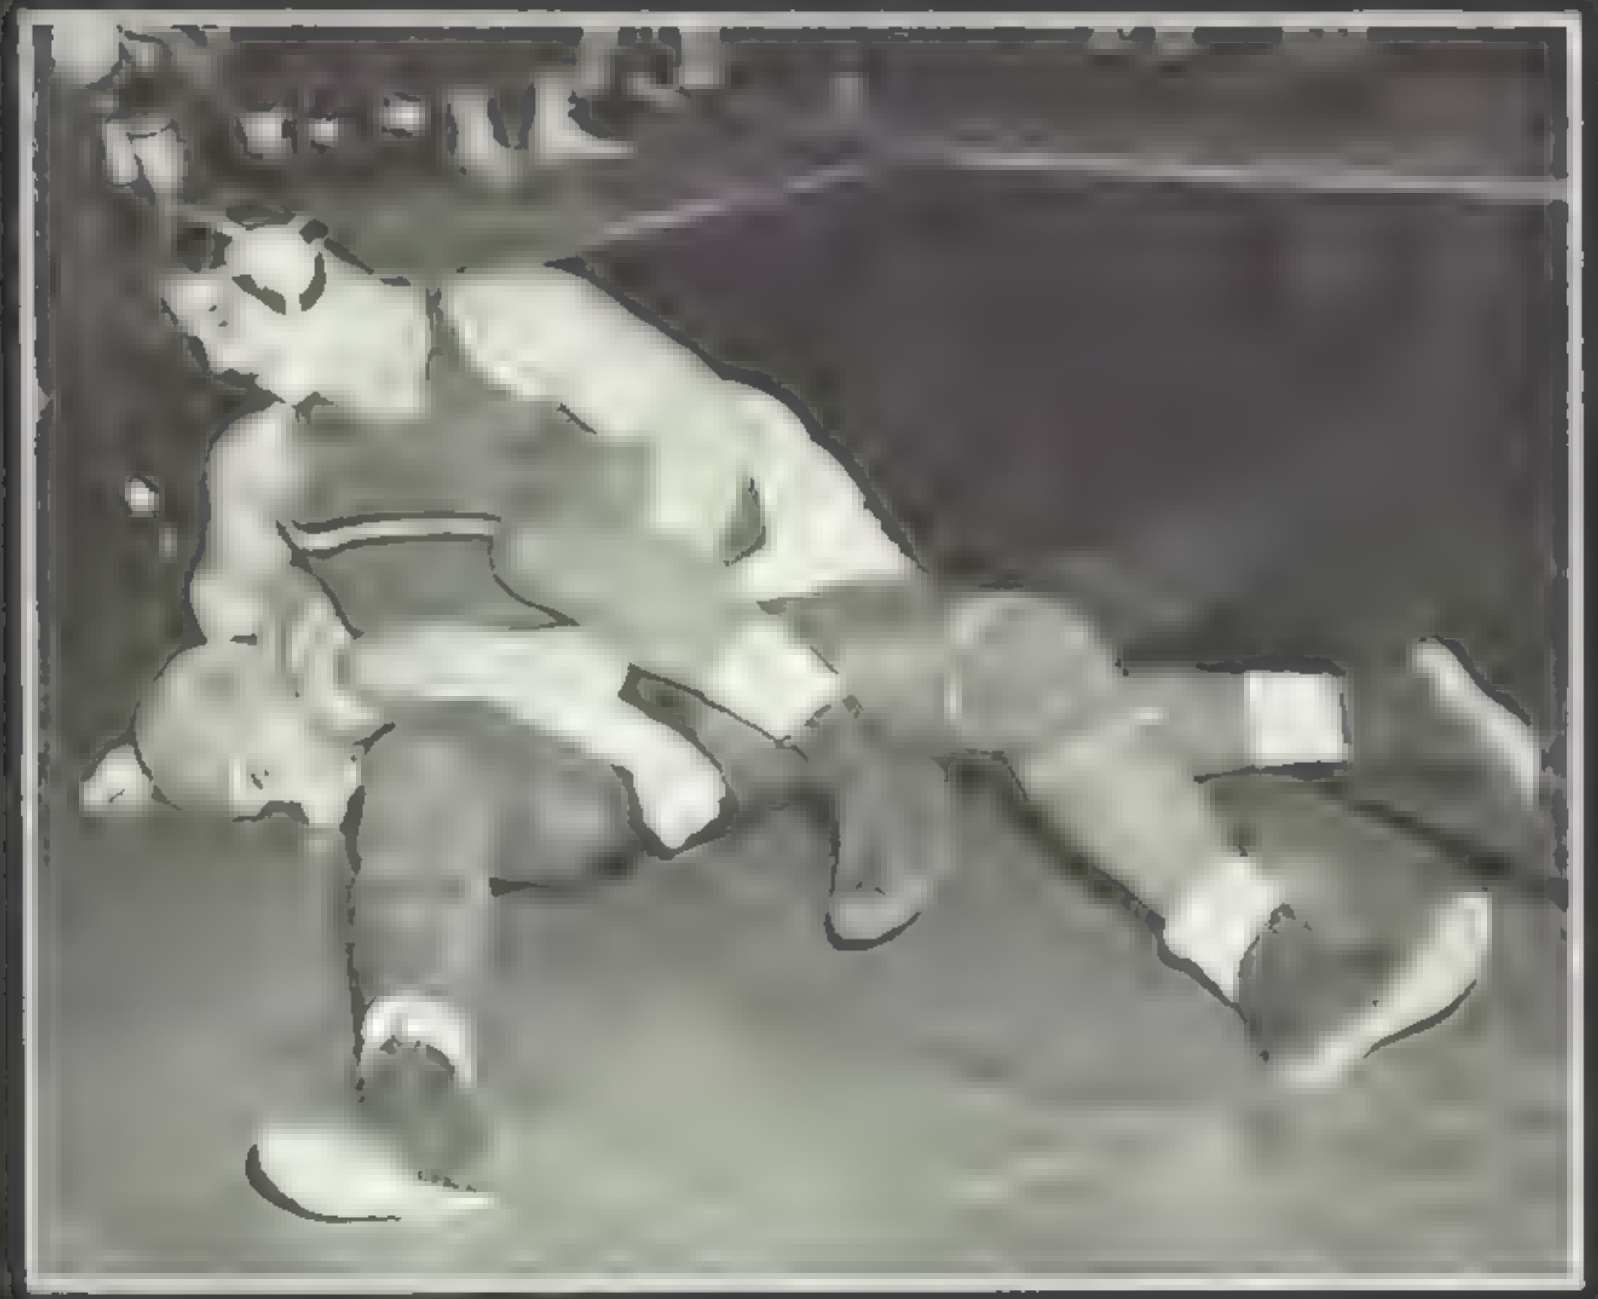

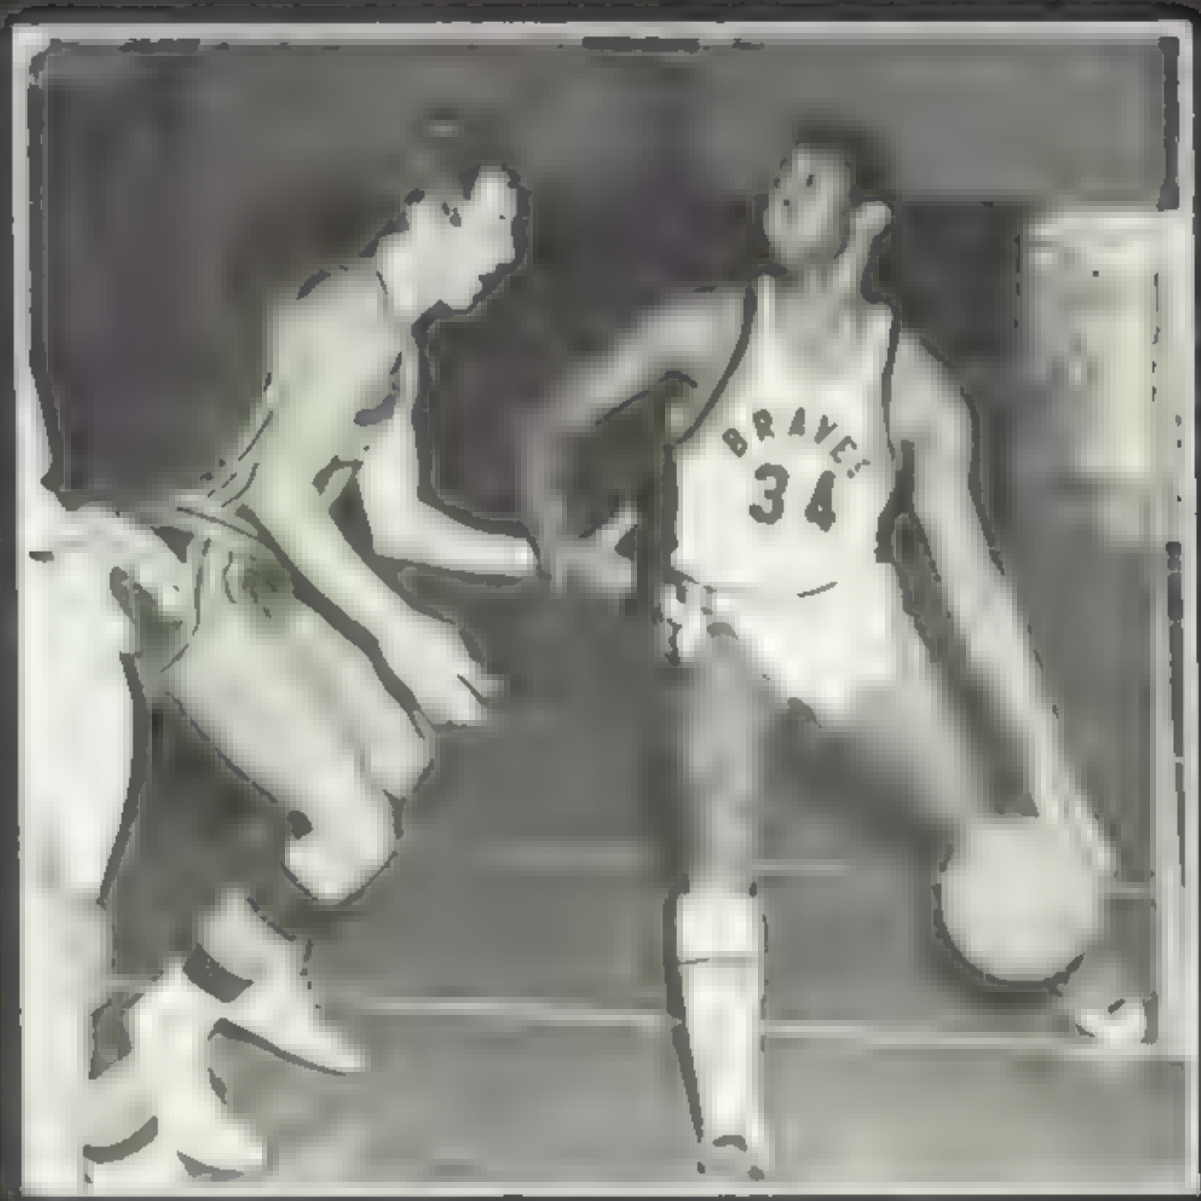

This year's cheerleading squad, as with those in the past, has led the Braves to victory by way of spirit. With the great number of home football games, the cheerleaders were expanded, and their responsibility heavier. Their efforts produced a vibrant crowd at all of the games. During the basketball season, they continued to spread the spirit, which contributed to the basketball Braves' fine season. It was very apparent that at every game or tournament, the presence of the Braves was sensed (and heard!)

The Braves finished the 1971 season with a 4-5-1 record. But they were much better than their record depicts. Fewer injuries and an increase in depth were reasons for this. Though lacking individual stars the team never gave up. At one point the Braves had a 4-1-1 record and it looked as if they would have a .500 or better season, but fate wasn't with them. Highlights of the year were: 1) the first victory ever over C.B.C., a 6-2 decision, and 2) the selection of Owens, Wosman, and Borkowski to the First Bi-State Conference Team.

The Bloody B's and their head coach, Mr. Bradley, found 1971 to be a year of varied success. While their final record was a rather disappointing 3-4-1, the season was marked by outstanding individual contributions. Leading the team was Phil Maroon who set school B-team records with 477 yards in 109 carries. Maroon also scored 26 points, indicative of Coach Bradley's ground-gearred offense which compiled 827 yards over the 8-game season. The offense was the mainstay of the team, but the defense more than proved its competence. They shut out Cleveland, Marquette, and CBC, and held the Roughriders of Roosevelt to six points. Another Augie B-team record was set by defensive ace Mike Berra, who made 87 tackles during the campaign, the most in B-team history.

Many other players deserve mention. Among them are freshman quarterback Kevin Haar, Frank DeBello, who showed versatility on offense and defense, Joe Vitale, the team's leading receiver, and men like Torno, McCarthy, Kowalsky, and Schuwacker. It was their individual contribution which made Augie's last B-team a respectable if not entirely successful one.

This year's '71 track team, although lacking depth for a really successful season, displayed great individual promise and determination. From overwhelming wins, as in the McBride match, striking up 80 pts. to their 37, to disappointing losses, like the C.B.C. meet with the score 58-72, the team rolled ahead to capture 4th places in the Bi-State, Chaminade Relays and the South Side Invitationals.

Dave Hebenstriet, Bill Lawton, Bob Blanke, Tom Reinhardt, Matt Dowd and other outstanding cindermen gave the team its leads. Dave threw the shot putt 55'2 1/2" for a 2nd place in the State Competition while Bill Lawton high jumped 5'11"

Though they have recieved little notoriety, the Bowling Braves have provided a worthwhile activity for those students not able to make regular athletic teams but who still want to engage in an enivigorating sport. Dennis Domachowski acted as student moderator and captain of the first team which also included O'Brien, Roneak, Dittrich, Buechell, and Mahfood. The second team's roster included Watkins, Johnson, Eigman, Baker, Bartoloni and Buncher. The third team was composed of Schiewer, Ottwerth, Russo, and Scroggins.

Varsity Basketball

"The Braves are tough!!", the battle cry of the Fighting Braves, led them on to the height of competition in a spectacular season only fitting for the season of the American Revolution. Although the first game of the season seemed to portend a disappointing year, the Braves faced all adversity and triumphed. Led by the brilliant and successful Coach P. Noser, the team had one of their finest seasons. Talented stars such as Jim Dressler, John Neff, and Rene Brown, along with the rest of the team, lived up to the motto and made the Braves one of the most successful teams in the state. They held first place in the Bi-State Conference going into the last game of the 1971-72 season, which was indicative of the great season they had.

Although the scorebook indicates a disappointing season for the 'B' Basketball Braves, one has to look farther and take note of the Braves themselves. For the most part, the starters did a good job often loosing by a heartbreak- ing 4 to 5 points. The team placed third in the Marquette Tourney indicating a real spirit of teammanship under co- captains Andert and Kowalczyk. Kowalczyk held the best average per game, Andert was considered the best all around player, and Geils was hailed as the best rebounder.

Braves Dust Off Successful Season

Winding up the year with a 14-9 record, the 1977 Varsity Baseball Braves enjoyed a successful season, including two victories over S. I. U. H. Since the opening game, it was evident that the Braves had the pitching, fielding, and most important, the spirit needed to be a winning team.

Larry Fritz led the Braves' hitters with 59 strikeouts. Joe March had a fine season by knocking in a total of 12 runs. Dave Stoll finished the season with a .400 average. He was the year's most valuable player with 28 hits and 11 R. B. I.'s.

The season ended with a 3-4 record for the 1971 'B' Baseball Braves. Sophomores Bob Dicus, John Hegger, and Freshman Frank Da Bello were the leading hitters, while Sophomore Joe Visnick and Freshman Mike Birk led the hurlers. The team put up a tough fight throughout the season and the games they lost were close. The Braves had good fielding ability and most of the losses were accountable to just an error or two. The team as a whole was in the ballgame all seven innings, as the Brave's sluggers refused to be shut out.

A great combination of offense and defense stymied the opposition as the Varsity Braves chalked up another successful season. 0-0 ties (and there were more than a few this year) are probably a Varsity Kicker's biggest frustration, but a late season winning streak compensated for the agony of a scoreless tie. This year's roster listed only five seniors, but raw ability made up for the lack of experience. The small but quick forward line handled the ball well with Gorczyca, Schindler, and Dowd as the mainstays of the offense. A tough defensive squad, bolstered by Berreshiem, Reinhardt, Schindler, and Wosman, backed up the front line drivers.

This year's B-soccer season can best be termed as successful. The Braves compiled a 6-2-1 record, scoring a total of eighteen goals to their opponents five. John Milla and Gary Guarino were the real backbone of the team. A tough defense was led by Joe Vitale. Most of the scoring punch was delivered by Dan Schindler and Phil Maroon. Other notable players were Kevin McCarthy, Rick Chibnall, Dave Ahner, and Bob Mahfood. Their aggressiveness and determination mark this B-team as the finest ever.

The Wrestling Braves can look back on this final year as one of their most outstanding seasons. Bi-State champions Paul Eckinger and Dave Hebenstreit bolstered the Grappler's standings with dual-meet records of 12-1 and 13-0, respectively. Ed Ohlman and Mike Maglione were this year's Hancock Tourney Champions as well as Dave Hebenstreit, who was also Vianney Tournament Champion. Ed Ohlman won a second place State District medal along with Paul Eckinger and Dave Hebenstreit, who both won third place State District medals. The whole team is to be congratulated for a truly outstanding season.

Harriers Run Their Last Mile

The Cross Country team finished the 1971 season with a two wins and four losses record, but this was not truly indicative of the fine talent on the squad, coached by Mr. William Painter. The team lost a couple of meets by a matter of a few points. The squad was lacking two good consistent fourth and fifth place runners, vital positions to a team's success. Led by juniors Matt Dowd, Steve Hill, and Kurt Odenwald, the team also had a brilliant sophomore runner in Jim Lovet.
